

Presenting Immiscible: The Fight Over Line 5

Co-Sponsored by the Three Lakes Group of the Sierra Club and the Lake Superior Watershed Conservancy

Thursday, May 24th in Crawford Hall Room 207 on LSSU's Campus starting at 6:30 p.m.

Every single day, 23 million gallons of oil pump through 64-year-old old pipelines under the largest source of surface freshwater on the planet. The Great Lakes are a delicate ecosystem and a sanctuary to over 40 million citizens who depend on them for their livelihoods, whether they realize it or not. Immiscible: The Fight over Line 5 explores the growing tension between water activists and big oil companies. The film features interviews from leading organizations in the fight to decommission Enbridge Line 5 in the Straits of Mackinac, members of indigenous communities at risk, concerned residents, as well as Enbridge Energy's public response to this conflict. This film was created by four Michigan State University students (Olivia Dimmer, Daniel Stephens, Austin Torres, & Annette Kim) in the College of Communication Arts & Sciences, Department of Media & Information. A discussion will follow the video.

The public is encouraged to attend.
